

Bourton-on-the-Water

November 2018

Summary (from Tamara Howell – Lead youth worker):

In the first session in November young people completed the Bourton Ghost Walk. This activity was provided free of charge to the youth club and was thoroughly enjoyed by all. The group were out for about an hour and a half with Eric, many said it could have been a bit more scary.

In the second session we had a go at painting, which saw some very nice designs come out of it, the young people really enjoyed this and kept coming back to have another go especially when it came to painting representations of themselves.

In the third week we had a go at toffee apples, some of these came out really well, however some of the toffee didn't set and therefore the young people had apples dipped in liquid toffee instead. Whilst this was going on young people continued their arts and crafts and had a game of football.

In the fourth and final week we made pizzas at the young people's request. Young people like this activity and although it seems like we do this regularly it is always something that they get involved fully with and will always go back for more. Young people were able to choose their own toppings and put as much or as little on their pizzas as they liked.

One of our young members represented the youth club in Bourton's remembrance day parade, taking part in the march and laying a wreath.
