

Bourton on the Water Youth Club – March 2018

SUMMARY (from Gemma – Project Manager):

March began with a session of board games and chocolate dog making. A very interesting evening turning various sweets and other ingredients in to cute little dog shaped treats. The young people enjoy food crafts and this is a fun one which opens up discussions about healthy eating and lifestyles. Board games are also relaxing and allow an element of free play to compliment the structured activity.

Then the young people had requested a quiz night which the youth workers delivered. Quizzes provide an evening of healthy competition as well as a chance to learn new things in a memorable way.

The next week the young people had an evening of relaxing Easter crafts. With Easter approaching this presents an opportunity for creative expression and exploration of what Easter means to them and what it might mean to others around them. Encouraging diversity and tolerance.

Finally the young people ended the month and term with an Easter egg hunt in the playing field. Encouraging healthy competition, teamwork and getting to enjoy a chocolate treat at the end of the term.
